Is the REFRIGERATOR that is different from all the rest. It isn't made primarily to SELL, with nothing but a handsome appearance to recommend it; it is made to save money for the consumer.

Instead of having porcelain or tile linings, for instance, ZINC is used. It isn't so pretty, but it ENDURES, instead of peeling, cracking or breaking.

So it is right through. The Eddy Refrigerator is built for service.

Fort Shafter Beaten By Cavalry

Another fine game of ball was played at Lihue, yesterday, when the Fort Shafter boys ran up against the Fighting Fifth, in the Military League series. Quite a number of the Shafter fans made the trip out in hopes of seeing their men win. But it was not to be, as the Cavalry after a close and exciting game defeated the town team by a score of 5 to 3.

Bolonn pitched for the Shafter and did good work—the support accorded him was much better than on Sunday last in the game against the Marines. Bateman caught his usual fine game and besides scored one of the three runs his team got. Moran did well also, he and Bolonn making a fine apiece.

For the Cavalry, Shephard, Groninger, Ginton and Kamna, did the run getting, the first named getting over the home plate safe twice. The game was umpired by J. Hanson and his work was satisfactory to all the players; K. L. Andrews was knight of the pencil and kept track of the score in his usual faultless style.

The Shafter team is playing with hard luck, and are to be commended on the way they are sticking to their work, which must be very galling at times. Still the lads are determined to keep going to the finish, and as they are improving rapidly, may surprise some of the leading teams before the series is on.

At present the N. G. H. is away in the lead, with a percentage of 1.000. The Marines are second with .686; Cavalry third, .500, and the Shafter having lost all their matches so far are in the zero class. It should be an interesting battle between the Marines and Cavalry for second place, and their next meeting will be looked forward to with great interest by the supporters of both teams.

Everybody would like to see the Shafter win a game, as they have put up some good plucky fights, and have had hard luck in one or two of their matches. Lieutenant Chilton has done a lot of coaching for his men, and has put in some hard work trying to get them into shape.

Following is the score.

Polo Will Start Saturday

At the meeting of the Oahu Polo Club last night it was decided to make a start of the game on Saturday next. That is to say that a practice game will be played at Moanalua, and a big bunch of polo enthusiasts will be sure to be on hand to watch the men at work. The play will start at 4 o'clock, and there will be plenty of time to give the ponies a try-out before darkness sets in.

A great deal of interest is being shown in polo, and now that the season is about to open, the advent of the Army men will be watched for and their form discussed wherever polo men do congregate.

The Maui players are getting into shape for the coming season, and will doubtless soon send a challenge along to both the Honolulu Club and the Army men. There will be one big time of joy when the three teams meet at Moanalua, and the pick of Maui goes up against the flower of the Army and the cream of Honolulu. And it will take the Oahu Island bunch all their time to defeat the Maui lot—if ever they do it.

Frank Baldwin and his fellow polo players are rapidly getting into form, and once they feel fit and can get away from their plantations, it won't be long till we see them measuring strides with the local men at Moanalua.

PROGRAM

Secretaries or other authorized representatives of clubs are asked to send in a list of events, scheduled by them, that they may be included in the program. Address all communications to the Sporting Editor, Evening Bulletin.

uring strides with the local men at Moanalua.

Polo is the king of sports, and its only drawback is that it takes so much cash to keep up a stable of ponies that only the well-off young men can afford to take up the game. Still the rest of the crowd who are always on the verge of being broke, can at least attend the games and enjoy themselves almost as much.

The practice game on Saturday will give a line on the form of the local players, and a look can be taken at the ponies which, after all, are the most important beings in the game. It is indeed good news to hear that the polo season is opening so soon.

SPORTS BY THE SPORTING EDITOR

The boxing game is pretty well defunct in Honolulu, but on the mainland is booming in good style. Quite a number of has-beens, age getting into the game again, and all of them start by declaring that they feel confident that they have at least one good fight in them. It is not hot air, either—it's oxygen that does the trick, and most of the old-time bugs, after being doped up, begin to indulge in pipe dreams of hauling down the big end of a purse once more.

They will find out the difference when they step into the ring against a younger man who is full of vim and devoid of oxygen. The latter dope is being used in all sorts of ways now-a-days, and more is the pity, too. Such artificial aids to athletes should be barred, for the harm they do is awful, and the man who uses them pays a fearful price for his short-lived flash of popularity.

Dope fends are becoming very common in all branches of "sport" and the result will begin to be seen later on in the increased death and insanity rate. Marathon races are getting worked out to a finish in the U. S. A., and are doomed to die just as the foot racing game did in Australia years ago. The professional runners at first ran fairly straight, and did well; then the prize money mounted up into the tens of thousands of dollars, and the runners began to arrange who should win the various handicaps, and split up the prize money with the rest of the bunch.

The public and the bookmakers soon got tired of the crooked work of the peds, and the consequence was that the game died out altogether. A tremendous amount of money had been invested in building running grounds and grandstands, and this was all a dead loss at the finish. The crooked runners killed the golden goose, and the tracks and buildings were left to fall away to ruins. A great deal of dope used to be used in those days by the runners, and it was remarkable what a difference it made to some of their pace. A man would run eight yards over even time for a hundred yards one night, and two days afterwards would cut out the distance in 10 seconds. Six yards Jasta!

Next Sunday, at Ewa, the Wailua and West's Warriors will try conclusions on the diamond, and a great game it is going to be, too. At present the Ewa and Waianae are tied for the lead in the Plantation League, and should Ewa go down in defeat to the Waianae there would be weeping for a week around West's home.

Dillingham Is In Fine Polo Form

The final game of polo for the season was played at San Mateo on May 2, and Walter Dillingham, of Honolulu, showed excellent form in the match. The following account of the game will be read with interest by polo players in these islands:

Lineup:
Reds—Francis J. Carolan, Walter Dillingham, Walter S. Hobart.
Whites—Richard M. Tobin, Edward Howard, Thomas A. Driscoll.

The polo season of 1938-1939 is now a matter of history. The last game of the season was played yesterday on Charles W. Clark's field at El Polopmar in San Mateo. There were only three players on a side instead of four. But what was lacking in numbers was more than made up in the quality of polo. It was as good in many respects as had been seen during the season.

The lineup looked as if the Whites should have won. However, it turned out to be different, for the Reds carried the day, although every point that they gained was disputed by the Whites. Dillingham and Hobart worked well together, and were responsible for the large score. The full six periods were played.

There were several long runs and shots. The ponies will be turned out next fall, when they will be brought up early for the big season which is planned.

Dearie's Dusky Double Drank Deeply

As an aftermath of the Burns-Johnson fight, all sorts of wild stories are going the rounds of the Antipodes. The latest is that in order to get a long price about Johnson, and to make Burns a red-hot favorite for the fight, a huge negro who resembles Jack somewhat was hired to go around town and visit all the pubs and wine shops. This boozing of "Johnson" was of course reported around the city, and people who knew no better rushed off to back Burns for the fight.

This story reads a bit fishy to anyone who has lived amongst the Sydney sports, and must be taken with a grain of salt. They are a pretty smart bunch down under, and there is not much in the sport line that they have not got a true line on. The Sydney blokes could not be fooled by any counterfeit "Daddy" the smart guys might put up on them.

If there was any haunting of pubs it was done by the real "Dearie," who is a lover of the flesh pots, and not adverse to a glass or two of wine now and again.

Not that Lil Arth is a booze fighter; he is far from that at present, but still the few hours he put in in Honolulu on his way back to the mainland opened the eyes of a few people as to his capacity for mopping up the wet goods. "Dearie's" favorite tipple is wine—and the real stuff at that; however he was not in training when here, and a lot of leeway can be given him on that account.

Still, any athlete who hits the wine bottle, even a little, generally does himself harm in the long run, and it remains to be seen how long Johnson will last in the champion-

SAINTS AND HIGH ARE EVEN WHEN RAIN FALLS.

The rain yesterday afternoon put a stop to a close and exciting game of baseball between the High School and St. Louis teams. At the end of the fifth inning both teams had scored two runs, and everything pointed to a good, tight game.

Right from the start Pedro and Andrews showed good form for the Saints, and the Highs went out in rapid style. In the third Henry Chillingworth scored for High, as did Kaulukou. This put the School two runs to the good. The Saints made two runs in their fifth through the agency of Ichl and Markham and tied the score.

The rain then began to fall, and the game had to be abandoned; it will be replayed next week. It is a great pity that the downpour interfered with yesterday's game, as the contest looked like being one of the best of the series.

C. Du Roi has been elected captain of the Ehlers team and as he is a fine player will no doubt assist the drygoods bunch a lot. However, Vierra's Invincibles are feeling very chippy and reckon they can put it all over the other crowd, even if Du Roi is to hold down second base for Ehlers.

The M. D. A. seems to be thriving, and now that the hot weather is making itself felt, quite a number of swimmers take a dive into the harbor every morning. The all-night workers should appreciate the M. D. A., as there is nothing like a dip to freshen a man up after a long, hot night's work.
